EDINGTON & CO S

AMAICA GINGER

This valu ble prepar tion is entirely vegetable, and will be found all that is claimed for it. As a preventive against fever and ague, bilious remittents, and all fevers of a malarious type, it will be found a sovereign remedy. For weakness of the stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia, want of appetite, and general debility, we do not hesitate to say it is unequaled by any other preparation in the world. As a tonic it will be found invaluable. For all diseases of the kidneys, bladder, and urinary organs, it will be found a most effective remedy. As a diuretic it will be found to act like a charm, relieving those troubles in a few hours, when all the usual remedies have been tried in vain. As a stimulant, in cases of debility, where a glass of spirits of any kind is ordered, it will be found far superior. It is also an excellent remedy for females who suffer from difficult menstruation, giving almost immediate relief. In the spasms that so frequently accompany that disease it will be found invaluable. It will give immediate relief to persons suffering from sickness while riding in the railroad car, or by sea sickness, as well as other causes. It is also highly valuable as an external application for Gout, Rheumatism, Neuralgia and

STOP THAT COUGHING

COME OF YOU CAN'T, AND WE PITY YOU. You have tried every remedy but the ONE that is claimed, by its intrinsic merit to supersede all nostrums and preparations. It is not surprising you should be reluctant to try something else after the many extravagant statements you have made of trashy compounds that are imposed on the public as a certain cure, but is really the VERY BEST remedy ever compounded for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Consumption. Thousands of people in California and Oregon have been entirely and forever benefitted by the surprising curative powers of

and with one accord give it their unqualified approbation. We now address ourselves to all who are unacquainted with this, the greatest Pulmonic of the age, the healing of all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, assuring you that will cure you, if you will but try a few thousands and it will cure YOU if you try

This great vegetable medicine is pleasant to the taste, healing and strengthening in its effects, entirely free from all poisonous or deleterious drugs, and perfectly harmless under all circumstances. Certificates from many prominent citizens of San Francisco accompany every bottle of

PIONEER WASHER.

JAMES BRUSIE,

AGENT FOR OREGON AND WASHINGTON TERRITORY

THIS CELEBRATED WASHING MACHINE IS now for the first time introduced to the Oregon public. It is unrivalled for its simplicity, durability and thoroughness, and does all its action. Washing the dirtiest clothes perfectly clean in from five to ten minutes, with but slight labor and lasting, with proper care for ten years. The wear and tear of clothing in washing by this machine is vastly less than by any other known process of washing. It is easily worked by one person.

This Machine captured the Special Premium at the California State Fair and all that it ever did it pronounced it an invaluable adjunct to all household economy and families and washing men and washing women.

It has been extensively introduced throughout the State of California, and receives the universal commendation of all who have used it.

The undersigned is now in the city of Portland, where he can be seen at Mr. O. Kilbourn's Store, corner of Front and Yamhill Sts. East side, Portland, and is prepared to furnish the Machine to purchasers and also to sell all Dispose of County Rights for the sale of the same.

jy12d3t THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The Position of the South--An Interesting Letter from Senator Wilson

Senator Wilson, of Massachusetts, has addressed the following letter to the New York Independent giving his views of the political situation in the South:

I believe that the bloody civil war through which the nation has passed was inevitable, that the hand of God was in it. Thus believing, I come also to believe that when slavery, the sole cause of that bloody struggle, should perish in spirit as well as in name, our estranged country men of the South would again love their country and their countrymen. Believing this I have striven, since the surrender of the rebel armies, to close the great contest that it would never more be re-opened. The way to complete success seemed to me to be not through punishments, but through amnesty for the guilty and manhood suffrage for the freedmen. The nation conquered the material forces of the rebellion by the cartridge box, its spirit can only be conquered by reason through the ballot box.

I filled with this faith and this hope, I entered, one month ago, into the rebel States, not to utter flattering or soothing words in the ears of men who now lead opinions and control affairs, who now direct the press, and other means of reaching the people, but so make the issue clear, sharp, distinct between the friends of the reconstruction policy of Congress and its enemies, between those who are in sympathy with the men who saved the country and made it free, and those who insist that the men who saved the country and made it free are its enemies. It seemed to me to be the duty of far seeing patriotism to make the issue in the rebel States now, and not permit those States to maintain the unpatriotic and fatal sectional policy of isolation—a policy condemned alike by reason and experience. Beginning on the 20th of April at Orange Court House, Virginia, and closing on the 18th of May, at Huntsville, Alabama, I met and addressed several thousands of our countrymen of the South. I did not fail to utter my sentiments with entire freedom, though they were antagonistic to the sentiments of many who listened to me. Two-thirds of the property of these ten rebel States perished in the rebellion, tens of thousands of their young men were sacrificed by it, losses and sorrows burden the lives of the people, the ideas, principles, and policies of their leaders are forever lost, and to the people the future looms up dark, almost rayless. These men of the South have been accustomed to hear, and they have come to believe, that their country and country men have brought upon them the nameless woes now pressing them down. Politicians, presses, and pulpits have taught and still teach this.

Believing that men must know that they have sinned before they will repent, I deemed it to be my imperative duty to deny all responsibility for their losses and sufferings on the part of the government of the United States, the people of the loyal States or the Republican party, and to hold the people of the rebel States alone responsible for every dollar they expended, every life they sacrificed, and every drop of blood they shed, every tear of agony or sorrow. I deemed it duty to pronounce the war the most wicked rebellion, in motive and purpose, in all history. I told them that slavery had poisoned the very fountains of their being, fired their blood, and made them hate their countrymen. I appealed to the black man not to form a black man's party, not to do anything to make a war of races, not to hate any, but to love all, to vote for each man, and such men only, as would make the Constitution of their State so that equal rights and privileges should be the birthright of all, and who would establish schools for the education of the children of the people. Loyal men and freedmen listened approvingly to these words, and it is due to those who did not approve to state that no groan, hiss or disrespectful or unkind word fell upon my ear at the meeting I addressed. Not accustomed to free speech, accustomed only to hear one side—the side of slavery, secession, rebellion and civil war—those men listened with respectful attention, often with deep interest, to the presentations of truths antagonistic to all their cherished convictions. Surely free speech in the rebel States, if not a fixed fact is in process of achievement.

Never was there a grander field for labor than the rebel States now present. The people are poor indeed. My ear was pained, my soul was made sick, with the reported losses of property and of suffering. General Sickles told me that there were 80,000 suits in the courts of North Carolina and South Carolina, and General Pope thought there was nearly as many in Georgia and Alabama. The people of those States need capital. Money is loaned there at ruinous rates. They need not only the fostering care of the Government, but the charitable action of the people, to relieve their misfortunes and sufferings, and to aid their educational and religious institutions. These people have sinned against their country, and against man, as no people have sinned for ages, but they have brought down upon them untold terrible punishments. They are our countrymen, are to be with us and of us, and though they continue to say and do weak and foolish things, we can afford in the hour of our complete triumph—not only of arms, but of ideas—to labor for their good, though our labors may be received with reproaches rather than grateful thanks. These will mollify the feelings of even persons poisoned with the virus of slavery.

The passage of the Reconstruction Act, and the act amendatory of it have had the wonderful effects. Life and liberty were never so safe in those States for all the people as now. The Southern people accustomed to the power, are not insensible to its influences. But the enfranchisement of the freedmen has produced the most wonderful results. The rebel leaders, hoping to control the votes of the freedmen, have been most lavish in their professions of friendship to the negro. As that hope begins to grow dim—for it is every day becoming manifest that the mass of the negroes will vote the Republican ticket, and support the policy of equality of rights—these Southern leaders are beginning to talk of a war of races and to hint that the plantation negroes will be menaced into voting as their employers direct. It is humiliating to see that some persons claiming yet to be Republicans are making themselves ridiculous by reporting the idle talk about a war of races if the six hundred thousand negroes in the rebel States have independence enough to vote for equality of rights and privileges and education. I shall be disappointed if at least ninety-eight per cent of the negroes of the rebel States do not vote for the Republican party—which to them is the party of patriotism, liberty, justice, humanity and civilization.

I am confident there are now more than six hundred thousand Republican voters in the rebel States; and that November next there will be more than three quarters of a million. They are poor, without papers or other means of enlightenment and organization. They are in pressing need of Gone Out to Stand.

History repeats itself The Ethiopian cannot change his skin nor the leopard his spots. Equally unchangeable are Democratic habits and practices With that party it is the same now as of old With it secession is an instinct. "Going out to stand" is a chronic and incurable habit Experience teaches it nothing. No discipline, however severe, can check its propensity. It must and will "go out to stand" Following this instinct the Democratic members in the City Council of Portland have "seceshed." For almost a month nothing has been heard of them except by rumor Whether, in conformity with the time-honored custom of their party, they have gone off and established a "Confederacy" of their own, we have no positive knowledge. But we cannot avoid knowing that for a month they have been missing. Knowing Democratic habits as well as we do, and putting this and that together, the conclusion is irresistible that they have "gone out to stand."

Some say that they have gone out because they could not, at the time of secession, wholly control the city government, and that they will be ready to come back thoroughly reconstructed the moment they can be assured that the time has arrived when they can take everything in their own hands. This is probably true, and it establishes another point of resemblance between them and the Southern wing of their party, which "went out to stand" at a time when they could not hope to control the Government, and expressed the greatest willingness to return when they saw that by coming back on their own terms they could regain power. Therefore this movement is Democratic in every feature. Those concerned in it are acting in accordance with the most approved principles and precedents of their party. They are nothing if not Democratic.

There is public business which needs attention, and complaints are rising because it is neglected. The people in various parts of the city had asked for street improvements and expected that the Council would take measures to have the work done; but the summer is slipping by and Councilmen do not make their appearance. Workmen who were remaining in expectation of finding employment are leaving the city, and the probable consequence of the delay will be, either that the work will not be commenced this year, or that the rains will overtake it in a half completed condition. The cause of this neglect of duty is so evidently partisan in its nature that every one is remarking it. The Democratic members will not attend to business, because their partisan schemes are not yet completed. They have arranged matters to elect a set of officers from among their own partisans, and they cannot go on because one member is absent. Before the popular election, citizens were told that the movement was wholly irrespective of party; but now it is so thoroughly partisan that not one member attached to that interest will attend the meetings of the Council unless the whole five are present, so that they may be able to carry any measure through which they desire. Before the election, we predicted how these matters would go in case that party succeeded. It is impossible for them to touch anything without involving it in party politics.

The organ of the go-out-and-standers graciously promises that the Democratic members of the Council will appear just as soon as the absent member returns and "not before." That is to say, they will be ready to attend to business as soon as they are assured of a Democratic majority. This is precisely what that expression means. For ourselves, we never expected anything different in their conduct, and therefore are not now complaining of it. We merely wish to remind citizens that when Democrats come before them talking "no party," it is only a device to accomplish by fraud and guile what cannot be effected by openly announcing their designs.

[The above was written during the early part of yesterday. Since then the absent Councilman has returned, and the majority attended the Council meeting last evening for the first time since the 27th of last month. No business was transacted however, as the Democratic members seem not to have their plans perfectly arranged even yet. They have therefore taken still another week to fix things.]

Jefferson and his Political Children.

The "Democracy" of Grant county assembled the other day at Canyon City to consider the political situation, and after reciting numerous and prolix preambles, in the plentitude of their wisdom proceeded to resolve among other things that the "Judicial Department is by far the most important branch of the Government." Is this genuine Democratic doctrine? Is the Judiciary, according to the received faith of this party, the true conservator of the Constitution? Is it, or should it be the chief branch of the Government, and is there no danger from its encroachments? What says Jefferson, the apostle?

"The Judiciary of the United States," says he, "is the subtle corps of sappers and miners constantly working underground to undermine the foundations of our fabric. They are constantly construing our Constitution from a co-ordination of general and special government to a general and supreme one alone."

"The Judiciary branch is the instrument which, working like gravity without intermission, is to press us at least into one consolidated mass."

"The Judiciary is an irresponsible body working like gravity by night and day, gaining a little to-day and a little to-morrow, and advancing its noiseless step over the field of jurisdiction until the Government shall be consolidated into one branch."

So it will be seen that the Grant county Democracy have got quite beyond the teachings of their acknowledged political father. It was his fear that the Judiciary would "consolidate the Government into one branch." They declare that such consolidation has been accomplished, and that the "Judicial Department is the most important branch of the Government." The consummation which he feared they accept as a thing devoutly to be wished. It was the struggle of his life to prevent the Judiciary from becoming "the most important branch of the Government"; they resolve in favor of the "consolidation" he so steadfastly opposed.

This, be it remembered, is the party of "eternal principles" We suppose the "resolvers" of Grant county know nothing about Jefferson, and are utterly ignorant upon the subject which their resolution embraces; but their action very well illustrates the constant Democratic habit of making supreme whatever branch of the Government happens to be exceptionally in their hands.

DEATH OF HENRY DODGE.—Henry Dodge, father of Augustus Cæsar Dodge, died in Burlington, Iowa, on Wednesday evening, the 19th of June, at the advanced age of 85 years. He was a native of Indiana, and removed to Wisconsin while it was a Territory. He was the Governor of that State, and was elected to the U. S. Senate for two consecutive terms. During a portion of these terms in the Senate, his son—Augustus Cæsar—was a member of the same body from Iowa.

ALABAMA.—It is estimated that the number of registered voters in Alabama under the Reconstruction Act will be about one hundred and eighty thousand, divided about equally between whites and blacks. The number of delegates to the Constitutional Convention will be one hundred, of whom south and central Alabama will have sixty-six.

Briggs offered a preamble and resolution rescinding the powers granted the tardy and inefficient Washington Monument Association, and directing the Secretary of the Interior to inform the House what becomes of the money collected, also as to the present condition of the association

Holman desired leave to offer a resolution of inquiry as to whether further legislation is necessary to define and limit the jurisdiction of the Court of Claims Woodbridge objected. Adjourned.

Filibusters for Mexico—Miscellaneous Items.

NEW YORK, July 13.—The Times' special from Philadelphia says that several exiled Mexican Imperialists are organizing an expedition for Mexico Ten regiments are to be raised at New Orleans; twenty in New York and five in Philadelphia. They are sanguine of success

The Tribune says Van Valkenberg is authorized to conclude an additional article to be added to the Japan treaty of October, 1864, giving additional commercial advantages.

The Anglo-Indian telegraph company is organized with a capital of £1,000,000, for a line of telegraph by the overland route with extensions to India, Suez, Singapore, China and Australia.

Reconstruction.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Stevens' Bill, introduced to-day, declares that all governments and pretended governments of Southern territories are null and void, and of no effect other than as their powers are derived from Congress. The offices existing de facto, and for local purposes, shall be confirmed until they are admitted to the Union Each District, as now existing, shall be governed by three Commissioners (civilians,) to be chosen by the joint action of Congress. The present registration will be continued with the view of the foundation of State constitutions to be submitted to Congress.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The reconstruction of the old States is declared to be the sole duty and work of Congress, and neither the President, the Judiciary nor military have any right to interfere with the work unless required to do so by Congress and the opinion of the Attorney General on any point connected with the admission of new States or the reconstruction of destroyed ones is unauthorized and ought not to be obtruded.

Surratt's Trial.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—On the Surratt trial several witness testified that Surratt was in Richmond March 25th, 1865. The defence offered to prove Surratt had an interview with Benjamin, Rebel Secretary of War, and received money from him. Ruled out and exceptions taken to the ruling.

S. T. Cameron's testimony tended to discredit the evidence of Dr. McMillan, who had made entirely different statements with regard to the conversation alleged with Surratt from that produced at his trial.

Another witness, Mrs Sackman, acknowledged that he had testified falsely on the trial of the "assassination conspirators, because he had been threatened and told that he would be hung if he did not.

LONDON, July 16.—Minister Adams and other members of the Diplomatic Corps, waited on the Sultan. A deputation of principal Americans also held an audience with him.

The reform bill has finally passed the House of Commons and gone to the House of Lords. It is fixed for Monday next.

FLORENCE, July 16.—Reports from Rome represent the papal government as much alarmed at the increasing attitude of the party under the leadership of Garibaldi. Many batteries around Rome are being put into effective condition. It is stated that the Pope has appealed to the Emperor of the French for protection for the Holy See.

PARIS, July 16.—In response to the appeal of the Pope for assistance in repelling the anticipated attack of the Republicans, Napoleon notified their leader, Garibaldi, to desist from the movement. The defences of Rome are to be composed of the restored batteries which France has not removed.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—On Wednesday morning last a musician and member of the Department Band, stationed at Black Point, went into the Bay near Point San Jose to bathe and was seized with cramp and was drowned. His name was Christian Graf He was a native of Alsted, Saxe Weimar, and aged 21 years. His body had not been recovered up to noon to-day.

The fire last evening was a tin shop occupied by Mr. Ahern, on Broadway, near Stockton street, and owned by Michael Reese The building being a very light one, it burned with great rapidity. The shoe store on the west, occupied by Lewis Ast, caught fire, and also the building on the east, occupied by a carpenter, and a cabinet maker's shop, occupied by Lewis Shallish The Fire Department responded and two fine streams of water on the fire and extinguished it in two or three minutes after the arrival of the apparatus, but not before damage to the extent of $1,000 had been done.

MARYSVILLE, July 16.—The dwelling house and one of the out buildings on the ranch of Peter Donahoe, in this county, was consumed by fire this morning at 2 o'clock. The origin of the fire is not known. Loss, $2,000, no insurance.

FROM THE NORTH.

VICTORIA, July 16.—Mr John Pidwell, Sup't of Roads for this Colony, was killed at Esquimault last evening, just as the steamer Idaho was about to leave for San Francisco, under painfully distressing circumstances. It appears that important Government dispatches which it was intended to send forward to England were behind time, and Captain Wingus of the Idaho being anxious to start, informed Mr Pidwell that he would wait no longer Mr Pidwell craved five minutes delay which the Captain finally granted, and Mr Pidwell dashed spurs into his horses sides and started up the road towards Victoria. At the first corner he met a buggy in which was seated a messenger with the dispatches, being driven rapidly toward the steamer Before either party had time to collide, a collision occurred, the buggy was smashed and the occupants thrown out, while Mr Pidwell was shot out of his saddle against the wheel of the buggy and then fell to the ground beneath the hoofs of the horses When taken up, it was found that his skull was horribly fractured Death ensued in one hour The flags are at half mast as a mark of respect to the memory of the deceased

DEATH OF JUDGE PYLE.

—We learn that Hon J M. Pyle, State Senator for Union county, died recently at his home in Grand Ronde Valley Judge Pyle went from Southern Oregon to that part of the State four or five years ago. Prior to his election as State Senator he was Judge of Baker county. He was widely known as a good citizen, a true and generous friend, and an earnest and consistent Union man. His loss will be deeply felt in that portion of the State.

Speaking of the harvest prospects of the Sound country, the Olympia Tribune says "The grain crop will fall far short of the average, many fields will scarcely pay for cutting. Hay will also be short; many acres that last year yielded heavily will not be cut this year All kinds of produce will be expensive the coming fall and winter"

STATE ITEMS.

The following toast was given at Oakland the 4th of July Mexico—The Republic that dares to execute her traitors, may she boast successful in her march of intelligence as she has been in overcoming her enemies, may Heaven be her reward

The Roseburg Ensign says "We believe in impartial suffrage, always did But now it is evident that the stubborn, defiant, reckless measures of the Democratic party, headed by their renegade whiskey-soaked President, will, we humanely absolutely forced the acceptance of the issue of negro suffrage on the Republican party.

A fellow who got a hearing through a Salem paper boasts that he was once in the sun in Portland as editor of this journal That he was here for a short time is true, and he might add that this journal had some difficulty to recover from the infliction. Also that it is still conscious of having been 'bilked' out of ten hundreds of dollars in cash through his instrumentality.

The Courier says that Sheriff Whitcomb, of Yamhill county, drove a wagon load each week over to Siletz bay To reach the coast beach at this point, had, many times and oft, previously been attempted, but never with success, we are told, until the sheriff and party made the trip last week A beautiful view of the ocean is had at this place with an open beach for from twelve to fifteen miles At a mere nominal cost a wagon road could be constructed over this route It will doubtless be done during next year.

The Record says that the Oregonians in the far East have been heard from by the reception of a letter from S N Dexter, Esq., announcing the arrival at himself and J. S. Smith with their families at Cork, in Ireland, at which point the steamer touched, and the party concluded to land and travel through Ireland The passage across the Atlantic was made under very pleasant circumstances in nine days' time Five steamers left New York the same day, bound for European ports, their steamer, the City of Boston being last—but before night the same day she was ahead. The party will visit the Exposition and then return to make a summer tour through England and Scotland

Several persons owning land adjoining Wapato Lake, Washington county, have determined to drain the lakes so that their land may be made dry and fit for agricultural purposes. They have therefore gone to work cutting a ditch to carry off the water in to the Tualatin By cutting one-fourth of a mile they expect to be able to drain one thousand acres The land is of the most valuable kind, and will be made highly productive. The whole lake could be drained with no great outlay of money, and the land thus redeemed would be of very great value This class of lands has until recently been almost neglected in Oregon, but of late they are becoming appreciated, and a good deal of attention is being paid to ditching and preparing them for cultivation

HOW TO SAVE MONEY.—We know of no better way to save money than to remake garments, and thus make them practically as good as new This can be done by using the celebrated FAMILY DYE COLORS of Howe & Stevens, which are equal to the best French, and ten times as cheap and convenient Sold by Smith & Davis.

SO MOTE IT BE.—KOHN & PISHEL, No 61 Front street, have determined to be the cheapest house in the State, and as every person is complaining of hard times, have decided to make another deduction in the price of their fine and custom made clothing furnishing goods, dry goods, etc. Call and examine their extensive stock and convince yourself that the above is the fact.

Buchtel's Photograph Gallery is the only establishment in Oregon that is thoroughly prepared to do all the different styles of work in the art Photographs from card to life size. The new cabinet cards, &c., &c. Small pictures enlarged (retouched in India ink—painted in water-colors or oil by Mrs. S. J Ramsey. Pictures that are fading can be reproduced in this way. All negatives taken in this gallery will be carefully preserved, and additional copies had. I have now on hand a very large collection of negatives, the names of which are recorded alphabetically in a book for that purpose that can be seen in the reception room.

SECOND'S COURT—Proceedings of Thursday, July 18th.

Ah Chung, tried for assault and battery upon Koo Mong, was convicted and fined $5, and costs, failing to pay which, he was ordered to jail for two days. Mr. Chung was unable to see why he was required to pay five dollars or go to jail and with indignant candor, he told the court so. He put on his hat and seriously proceeded to the court, "Why you makee me pay five dollar!" Then he took off his hat, took it off emphatically, and repeated his query, repeated it anxiously. Deputy Marshal Saunders being armed with the authority of the court, gently replaced the celestial interrogator's hat upon his head and politely invited him to retire. Mr. Chung, however, did not feel that he could leave the scene without being enlightened upon the vital point, and again, with double emphasis underscored his brow and insisted on knowing "why you makee me pay five dollar!" At this stage of the proceedings, when all ears were strained to catch every word uttered by the eloquent gentleman, albeit he spoke muchly in an unknown tongue the unscrupulous and unappreciative Saunders smashed the celestial file down upon the celestial head and over the celestial eyes of Mr. Chung and walked him with very decided emphasis out of the room, down the stairs, into the street and thence by easy stages to the city jail. His anxious and inquiring friends may find him there, still puzzled over the problem, "Why you makee me pay five dollar?"

The next case on the docket was that of Thomas Berard and A. Dubois, of whom the Joseph Brown (all colored) complained that they had torn down his boot black sign. The defendants constitute a firm doing a general boot and shoe blacking business, at two bits a pair, without regard to race or color. The complainant is a sole trader in the same line and "makes 'em shine" for one bit. The enterprising Joseph had put up a sign announcing this important reduction in prices, whereat the defendants complained that they and their humble blacking business were injured and desired cheap Joseph to come down with his sign and let the prices go up again. Joseph obstinately refused, and so his sign hung in full sight there, on a nail, against the wall, till the clock was upon the prick of eight A. M., yesterday, when it and Joseph mysteriously disappeared. Joseph suspected the defendants did it. He made oath to that effect and brought a witness who was not there when 'twas done and didn't know anything about it, only he had seen the sign waving in the early morning breeze and when he came back from breakfast, lo, and behold! 'twas not. That was all. The Recorder couldn't see a sign of proof in that sort of testimony and so he told the defendants to go about their business. Gentle reader, our tale is ended. Lastly, the boot-blacking "situation" remains in a muddle.

HAMS—THE WAY TO TREAT THEM.—The farmers of this country have been often lectured roundly for the slovenly manner in which they bring their produce to market, and in most cases they have deserved it. The farmers, in turn, have charged that produce dealers will not give them a fair price, and that in consequence they cannot afford to spend much trouble in preparing their produce for market. The truth is and always has been, that a good article, put up in good shape, brings a good price. We have an example of what good handling of hams will do: A short time ago a lot of hams was brought into this city and offered at the ruling rates; nobody would buy because the hams were badly cut—were jagged, uneven, and looked horribly slovenly—and badly smoked. A dealer who thoroughly understands his business finally bought them, at what price—we are uniformed. He immediately set to work, trimmed them as nicely into shape as possible, removing the rugged, projecting bones and fringe, smoked them properly, and now the same hams are called a first rate lot by all who see them. The enterprising dealer will sell them without the least trouble to the identical man who refused them before at any price, and will realize on them a handsome profit after deducting waste by trimming and cost of preparing them. The farmer who brought them in, probably got from 11 cents per pound. The dealer will probably sell them for 18 or 20 cents. Had the farmer prepared them judiciously at the very first, he could have sold for several cents per pound higher than he did. The extra work of so preparing them would have cost him not more than half a cent per pound more than as they were brought to market. All the talking and grumbling the farmers can do in the next hundred years, will have no effect in changing the immutable laws of trade. A good article will sell for a good price, and a poor one or a bad one, badly prepared, will go begging for a small price. Neither monopolists nor grumblers can alter that fact.

DANDELIONS.—We take pleasure in inviting special attention to the new card of Drs. Mack & Hatch, dentists. We know from personal acquaintance with their work that they are accomplished in their profession, and that it is no vain boast when they say, "satisfaction in all cases guaranteed." They are fitted up in an office supplied with every possible requisite or convenience and, as will be found upon visiting them, they have every known appliance for rendering as little unpleasant as art and science can make them, those operations which need to be always painful or tedious. It is almost worth while to have an aching tooth or a decayed one, to see how easily a good dentist can, now-a-days, extract the one or, how perfectly, make the other sound. Dentistry, within a few years, has accomplished more than any other branch of surgical practice, in the way of relieving ills and remedying organic defects. Drs. Mack & Hatch have kept even pace with all the improvements in their profession, and we have no hesitation in recommending our friends to go to them a call whenever they want any work in their line.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.—The Council met last evening pursuant to the motion for a recess, adopted Wednesday evening.

The clerk called the roll when Messrs. Besser, Burch, Fechheimer, Hallock, Mulkey, Porter, Ripley, and Rosenheim answered to their names. Absent—Mr. McCraken.

The clerk announced the first business in order to be the election of a presiding officer.

Mr. Hallock, after making some remarks, defining the duties and tenure of office of the clerk and auditor; the powers of the members of the council under the charter; doubting, if under the warrant of the charter and the peculiar circumstances of the case, this assembly could be deemed a meeting of the council; stating that a minority at the last regular night of meeting had taken a recess till this evening, by what authority he did not know; moved that, that recess be extended till the next regular meeting, Wednesday evening.

The motion was carried, and the Council dispersed, amid applause from the lobby.

HORSES DROWNED.—Mr. John Minto arrived in the city on Friday from Salem, overland to Oregon city. He informs us that a short distance above Canemah, he found Mr. Wm. Greenwood, late State Senator from Marion county, who had just lost a valuable span of horses by drowning in the Willamette. Mr. Greenwood had just been to the city and was returning home with a wagon. When in a narrow place in the road, he met a team, and turned out on the river side, to allow it to pass. His son who was driving, then spoke to the horses to start, but instead of starting readily, they commenced prancing. One of horse's in a moment stepped off the bank, dragging the other and the wagon. They both went into the river and were drowned almost immediately. Mr. Greenwood and son both leaped from the wagon before it went over the bank. Mr. Minto says the wagon and load can be got out.

CIRCUIT COURT—SHAVER, JUDGE.—Proceedings of Thursday, July 18th:

The Oregon Central Railroad Company vs. H. C. Victor; action on promissory note; judgment for plaintiff in the sum of $1,518,75.

The Oregon Central Railroad Company vs. H. C. Victor; action to recover two hundred and fifty shares of stock; judgment for plaintiff in the sum of $1,556,45.

E. Henrici vs. T. H. Taylor; action for possession of certain lands in Columbia county, venue changed to this county; jury trial.

Charles W. Parrish, Esq., was admitted to practice as an Attorney and Counselor at Law.

State of Oregon vs. James Gill, set for trial Friday morning.

VALUABLE MEDAL.—A certain driver, well known in this city was, yesterday, made the recipient of a leather medal in recognition of his valuable services as a driver in a recent expedition to Aurora. It is related, in explanation, that he mistook the road and drove mostly all over Yamhill county getting well up towards Dayton and Lafayette. Upon ascertaining his error, he took the advice of a man he met, who was either an ignoramus or a wag, and started "across lots" to save about seven miles travel. Making about a mile, he found his further progress as an end and himself and party "in the wilderness." He finally got out of this and eventually reached the river and arrived at Aurora, but, "a day after the fair." The medal with an appropriate inscription, comes from the young ladies of that village.

A BOLD FOUNDATION.—The stone foundations for the M. E. Church building are now completed in accordance with the plans of the architect, Mr. John Nester. The broad and solid masonry suggests the idea of eternal endurance whether or not it inspires any other thought of eternal things. As a mere piece of workmanship, it is of a very superior order. In this connection we may mention that within a short time the ceremonies of laying of a corner-stone will be celebrated. Due notice will be given of the day.

KOSMAREN LODGE.—The following is the list of officers of Kosmaren Lodge of Good Templars, organized in this city, on the evening of the 16th: Gerge E Gilbert, W. C. T.; Mrs. Rebecca Holcumpin, W. V. T.; Joseph Simon, W. S.; L. D.; Geo W Durand, W. F. S.; Frederick Harbaugh, W. T.; Worth Gary, W. M.; Miss Emma Reed, W. I. G.; Phil H. Gray, W. O. G.; Henry Hopkins, W. D.; George W. Holcumpin, P. W. C. T. The time of meeting is Saturday, at 7:30, P. M.

CHURCH.—A meeting was held last evening at the Synagogue Beth Israel, for the purpose of forming a choir, all being invited to attend who might feel disposed to join. A fine organ has lately been purchased for the Synagogue, which will be used by the choir as an accompaniment to their performances. We are informed that the principal object in organizing this choir at the present time, is to furnish music at the Jewish festivals which are within a few weeks.

MAPS QUICK TIME.—Last evening we received a copy of the Iowa State Register, just three weeks and a day from the press. This is the quickest time ever made by a newspaper in the mails from the Eastern States to Portland. The time made is accounted for by the fact that the paper was sent via Boise city, instead of going, as all mail matter has heretofore done, via Sacramento.

WHITE HORSE RESOURCES.—The Senator brought down from Oregon City yesterday the following: 46 boxes eggs 12 bales wool, 14 boxes produce, 16 kf bbls do, 280 qr sks flour, 227 bags feed, 75 sks oats, 5 bales woolen goods 6 bxs cherries, 6 cases mdse, 11 bales mdse, 2 bales skins 3 bags spokes, 1 dry hides and a lot household furniture.

THE WINDSLIPER.—This Steamer sailed for Victoria last night with all the freight she could possibly carry, mostly flour. About one hundred to one hundred and fifty tons of produce was offered over and above her capacity, which must, per force, await the next trip. The flour sent was mostly all to fill orders.

VERDICT FOUND.—At the close of the session of the Circuit Court yesterday, the jury in the case of E. Heuriet vs. Taylor, was out. Late in the evening, they came in with a verdict for the plaintiff, giving him the possession of certain lands in Columbia county, as claimed in the complaint.

THE CITY FATHERS adjourned last evening without setting our city affairs which of course don't impeach the man Bros., for selling paper collars at 25 cents a box.

BASE BALL.—The Wide Awakes will meet for practice this afternoon at five o'clock.

ATHLETICS will meet on their grounds for practice this Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock sharp.

ESCOBEDO'S ADDRESS TO HIS ARMY.—EXCHANGE OF OFFICIAL CONGRATULATIONS.—Escobedo issued the following order congratulating the Liberal army on their success:

HEADQ'RS AT PURISIMA, May 15, 1867.

Mariano Escobedo, General of Division of the Republic of Mexico, and in Chief of the Army of the North, and commanding the troops operating upon Queretaro:

Soldiers. To your valor, constancy and sufferings the republic is indebted for one of its triumphs—the grandest obtained in the long struggle which the nation has had with the invaders and their accomplices. The rebel city of Queretaro, the strongest fort of the Empire, after a heroic resistance of twenty months, worthy of a better cause, has succumbed. Fernando Maximilian, the so-called Emperor, Miramon, Mejia, Castillo and a large number of Generals, chiefs and officers, with all the garrison, are our prisoners. I would fail to do my duty as a soldier, and be a traitor to my commission as a freeman and loyal Mexican, if I remained silent upon the heroic deeds and more heroic sacrifices. With the faith of the soldier who defends the independence of his country, without food and often without a single cartridge, you have challenged death, fighting unceasingly against a large number of troops, composed of traitors and foreigners, who were provided with all the elements of war, perfectly fortified and commanded by the best Generals of the old army, who unfortunately failed to do their duty by allying themselves with the invaders of and sustaining to the last hour the foreigner that another foreigner, the Emperor of the French, wished to place upon a throne created with the bayonets of his soldiers; but these, must exist no more, its remnants have fled to France to hide their shame, loaded with the curses of the whole country and carrying the sad news that more than half their comrades have paid with their blood for the caprice of their master.

Companions in arms—It is of no importance that ambitious men have, at the price of their conscience, misrepresented your deeds; the truth of history will place each one in his respective place, and neither the enemies of the Republic nor those who have remained quiet at home in the cities occupied by the invaders, contemplating their disgrace with indifference, will exalt themselves over those who like you have fought constantly and without rest for the sacred principles of independence and liberty.

Soldiers—In the name of the Republic and the supreme government I congratulate you with all the effusion of my soul, and, consequent to the programme which has been traced to me, we will continue until we have secured peace and order, and with it the future destiny of our country.

Long live the Republic! Long live the national independence. MARIANO ESCOBEDO.

EXACTLY.—A rabid rebel sheet, (the Richmond Enquirer) in one of its paroxysms about loyalty says, that "every man of the South who votes with the Black Republican party endorses the murder of Mrs. Surratt." The journal should have had the frankness to also have stated that every man who votes against that party endorses the assassination of Abraham Lincoln. One is just as true as the other, and a little more so.

PRUSSIA AND ROTHSCHILD.—Baron Rothschild of Frankfort, in revenge for the wrongs done that city by Prussia last year, it is said, will make a large advance of money to the French Government in case of war.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF IDAHO—BOISE CITY, I. T.—Organized March 11th, 1867, (with circulation) under Act of Congress, approved June 3d, 1864. Authorized capital $500,000. Paid up capital, $100,000. B. M. Dalbell, President. C. W. Moore, Cashier. Collections of Notes and Accounts on the principal places in Idaho Territory promptly attended to. Exchange for Coin or Currency this Bank can be purchased of Ladd & Tilton, Portland, Oregon.

PERFECTLY ENRAPTURING.—Such were our feelings as we stepped into the Music and Art Gallery of W. T. SHANAHAN, on First street, a few days since, and listened to the delightful tones and harmony which came from one of Mason & Hamlin's Cabinet Organs. From the soft breathing flute tones to the thundering bass of the pipe organ, all was equally free and sweet. And why is it other makers cannot produce instruments like these? Mason & Hamlin were the first to introduce the Cabinet Organ, and have gained such world-wide notoriety that it requires the work of two large factories to supply the demand for these valuable instruments.

A SPLENDID INSTRUMENT.—We saw, yesterday, at J. L. Parrish & Co's something new in the way of an organ—a French instrument called the Organ Harmonium—invented by Alphonse Rodolphe. It is a very considerable modification of the organ as we have them from the American manufactories. It is provided with sixteen stops, each of which exercises a distinct and peculiar effect upon the tone. The bass stops are the Forte, Jeu Doux, (soft, sweet) Basson, Clarion, Bourdon, English Horn; the treble stops are Expressive, Tremolo, Scotch Bagpipe, Flute, Clarionette, Fife, Hautbois, Voix Celeste, Forte, and Knee or Full Expression. The effect of these stops in changing the tone is most surprising. For instance: from the flute to Voix Celeste with Full Expression, the tone changes from what sounds precisely like a soft flute, to the full grand harmony which we would expect from an Angel choir—while the same impost. The Key-Board is movable and can be adjusted to any key, to any instrument, or to the voice of any singer. Other changes are no less surprising. The instruments are of the most perfect workmanship and of the highest finish. They have taken the first medals at all the great European Expositions. The prices range from $175 to $600. Persons in want of an instrument should call and see them, for it is impossible to get a correct idea of them, except from personal inspection. J. L. Parrish & Co., are sole agents for the Pacific coast.

(*Successor to Jacob

The Attempt to Assassinate the Czar.

The following are the particulars of the recent attempt on the life of the Czar.

The Paris Moniteur publishes an account of the firing at the imperial carriage, in which the Czar of Russia and Napoleon were seated and the attempted assassination of the Czar The statement, which is very short, confirms the report which I transmitted through the cable to the Herald yesterday evening

It is stated in the Moniteur that the ball struck the head of the horse which carried one of the imperial grooms in waiting who was riding at the door of the carriage, and the weapon burst The people in the crowd standing near the scene of the attempt arrested the assassin, and the police interfered to save his life which was threatened by the enraged populace.

The man says his name is Beregouski, and that he is a native of Volhynia.

La Presse, in its issue, confirms the statement that the pistol burst, and says the assassin is a Polish mechanic, and that he purchased a double barrelled pistol in the city on Wednesday, June 5th

The newspaper also states that his motive appears to have originated in personal hatred to the Czar, directed by political passion

The Gazette des Tribunaux says that the groom in waiting, who was riding by the door of the imperial carriage, observed the menacing movement of the man in the crowd, and instantly caused his horse to bound a little forward, so as to place him directly between the assassin and the sovereign.

The ball passed through the space formed between Napoleon and one of the Grand Dukes, son of the Czar, wounding a lady who was standing opposite to see the cortege pass.

The blood from the head of the groom's horse spirted on the uniforms of the imperial party.

The man attempted to fire a second shot, but this discharge burst the second barrel of the pistol.

At this moment shouts of "Vive l'Empereur!" and "Vive le Czar!" went up from the crowd.

The man immediately on his arrest said he came from Belgium two days since with the intention and for the purpose of killing the Czar.

The Paris Siecle, in its account of the affair, says the man himself states that he had no accomplices.

The assassin was examined the next day. He spoke with coolness, and gave his history. He is a Pole, an instrument maker, and has lived latterly on his savings and on money given to the Polish refugees. He was asked. "How could you fire at a sovereign, the guest of France, who nourished you?"

He replied with tears, "True, I committed a great crime toward France."

"But you ran the risk of killing Napoleon?"

To this the prisoner answered, "No; a Polish bullet could not go astray. It must go straight when aimed at the Czar. I wished to relieve the world of the Czar, and the Czar of the remorse which must weigh upon him."

The prisoner showed no sorrow for the crime he had attempted to commit, and only expressed regret at his failure.

Napoleon has conferred the Cross of the Legion of Honor on Rambeaux, the groom. The horse of the latter died from the effects of the pistol shot.

REPORT THAT POLYGAMY IS TO BE ABOLISHED IN UTAH.—The Salt Lake Vidette is responsible for the following somewhat apocryphal statement:

It is whispered about that an understanding has been effected by the President of the Church of Latter Day Saints with the President of the American Republic, that the former is to abolish polygamy in Utah, so soon as the States lately in rebellion are reconstructed and in their old places back in the Union. This may be true or not. If true, it goes to the extent of proving that step he is convinced that steps are to be taken by the Government to enforce respect for its laws; and that the system of many wives can be dispensed with as conveniently now as at any other time. We are not prepared to say that we do not believe this story. We heard an intelligent and sincere Mormon declare last winter, when this same question was being discussed, that he had "no doubt that Brigham Young had said that polygamy would be abolished as soon as the Union was restored," "but," added he, "he has not the most distant idea that the Union ever will be. In fact, he has declared that it never would be restored, so he was quite safe in making the declaration." Stranger things have come to pass than that such an understanding exists, no matter what the motive that impelled him into giving in his assent to the proposition.

What really shows the truth of the report is the unanimity with which persons who had been at Washington last winter, say that the Delegate, Hooper, had assured the President and the heads of departments that no more outrages would be tolerated or encouraged in Utah, against those who may [illegible] different religious views from the Mormons. Hooper had a very good understanding with the President and Cabinet, and although he did not secure all the favors that he [illegible] on account of the Straits being somewhat [illegible] on the polygamy question, yet he [illegible] sufficient show that it is not altogether improbable that he is to the point, and may [illegible] in his faithful performance. Anyhow. We are told [illegible] W. H. Hooper is not a polygamist, so there will be no inconvenience in his falling into line.

GEN. SHERMAN'S RAID ON SELMA.—Some reminiscences of Gen. Wilson's famous raid on Selma, Alabama, and his capture of its fortifications, are thus narrated by "Mack," of the Cincinnati Commercial, from information gleaned during a late visit to that city:

Selma was the first important point struck by Gen. Wilson in his famous cavalry raid. There were several large Government machine shops in operation here, and the place was, in other respects of great value to the Confederacy. It was strongly fortified, and Wilson's men had to fight their way in against a very spirited resistance. I met an ex-rebel officer yesterday, who told me there were twenty-one batteries concentrating their fire upon the Federal troopers as they made the final charge to capture the fortifications. He said it was the grandest sight of the whole war, to see the Yankee cavalry come up the road under such a fire.

Every now and then one of the batteries would sweep an avenue through their ranks, but the gap was no sooner made than filled. "Wilson's men," said he, "came up with astonishing coolness; they neither yelled nor shouted, and the only thing you could hear as they approached was the order to close up after a cannon ball had cut down a few of them. They kept right on and never stopped till they rode right into the fortifications. The charge of the six hundred at Balaklava wasn't equal to that." The rebels had only a small garrison in the place—just enough to man the batteries. When they found Wilson couldn't be stopped by the fire of twenty-one batteries, they concluded it was time to leave, and they started on a keen run for Montgomery.

On taking possession of the town, Wilson first applied the torch to an [illegible] foundry, which had been erected by the rebel Government early in the war for the construction of the sea coast and naval guns. It was the largest establishment of the kind in the South, and there were few larger even in the North. Many guns used in the defense of the Charleston harbor, and other points Federal gunboats had to be raised, were made at it There was also a large arsenal here, where shot and shell were made in immense quantities This was burned down, of course, likewise a number of storehouses and warerooms and a large amount of rebel army stores.

ANOTHER FAMOUS LION KILLER.—The journals of Algeria speak of a young Frenchman named Betoulle, employed in the topographical service, who bids fair to rival the fame of Jules Gerard, as a lion-killer. Being lately in the neighborhood of Souksahras, he was informed that a lion had carried off an ox the preceding night. In consequence, he prepared his arms, and took up a position in the dusk behind a thicket, at about fifteen yards from the remains of the ox. At about 2 in the morning the lion appeared and recommenced his repast, when the sportsman took the opportunity to discharge two aperical balls into its body The animal fell without a sound, but immediately rose, and staggering along for some little distance again dropped down dead. It measured nearly nine feet, and was supposed to be about 12 years old A few days later M Betoulle went out on another expedition in the same locality, having learned that a lioness and two lions were committing great ravages every night Having entered the forest which the animals frequented, he fastened an old mare to a tree as a bait, and then posted himself behind some thick bushes He had not been there long before a noise was heard in the thicket, and a magnificent lion made its appearance, advancing with precaution, and with in a few yards of the marksman; who was unable to take aim at the moment, from his rifle being entangled in the brushwood. The animal then made a circuit round the mare, licked its lips, and crouched down for the purpose of making the fatal spring, when the sportsman, from about forty yards' distance, fired, and lodged two balls in his right side. The animal gave a terrific roar, and plunging into the forest, disappeared The next day its dead body was found about five hundred yards from the place of ambuscade It was a noble animal, but not so large as the first one killed.

Ancient and Modern Building in England

The London Telegraph says:

"Our forefathers' forefathers wrote on brass, we scribble on water Their great deeds figure in the skies as starry constellations our meagre performances hardly on the sand and with the sand disappear So says the eulogist of the past, and so, too says the innovator and trades union list, Mr Edward Coulson, Secretary of the Operative Bricklayers Society of London 'Looking at the old work which you have had to take down,' asked Lord Lichfield, in his quality of royal commissioner 'and comparing it with modern work, do you think there was more reality and honesty in the old work than there is in the modern?' 'I do,' answered the witness, 'you find that now all kinds of rubbish are used to make mortar. If you pull down an old piece of work you will find the mortar hard and sound but if you do that in the new work after a few years, you will find the mortar crumble to pieces'

"The testimony is valuable, but those who are neither trades' unionists nor operative bricklayers could have told Lord Elcho quite as much and more To an observant eye, Belgrave is already in ruins, while the walls of Honorius scarcely show a settlement The signs of rough slopes scar and dint the ancient fabrics, but they bear no gaping wounds of their own infliction Those who are still young might safely wager that the 'mansions' of Tyburnia will not hold together during the ninety nine years for which the lease of most of them is held while the mare tore near which Belisarius begged an obolus, and probably did not get it—and which had been out of the perpendicular, as Procopius relates, long before the time of that reduced strategist—is no more on the incline than it was then

"When the capital of Italy was lately transferred from Piedmont to Tuscany, fair Florence had to make sacrifice of her curving walls, and to give up the ground on which they stood for a boulevard to be made by an English company. Our worthy countrymen, whose experience was limited to modern workmanship, imagined that demolition would be easy and inexpensive; but the extreme liness of this part of their contract is to upset all their fine calculations of profit The walls could not be pulled down, they had all to be blowed down, and the outlay in powder has turned out to be something enormous To come nearer home, when the Broxbourne and Hartford Branch of the Great Eastern line was in course of construction, just below Ware the navvies came upon the old Roman ford, many feet below the surface, whose whereabouts had hitherto been a puzzle and bone of contention to archæologists.

"Roman work, too, was there in abundance, and the navvies broke all their pikes in striking it We could travel to Dover and tell similar stories, but why labor to prove the incontestible? The works executed to-day will break no picks, and need no powder Even Time, the devourer, will never have the chance of making a toothsome morsel of them; they cut into their own heart, rotten to the core from their very cradle. The words pronounced by the Pope on Ash Wednesday to the Cardinals whom he signs on the forehead with ashes, 'Remember that thou art dust, and unto dust thou shalt return,' might with equal appropriateness be pronounced by the fair lady or distinguished statesman who, with silver trowel in hand, lay the foundation stone of our public buildings. Dust, rubble and 'pookets'—of such is the modern palace made. If, O British householder, you ask for the proof, look at your own cracked ceiling. The very sepulchres,' says Byron speaking of Rome, 'are tenantless of their heroic dwellers,' but the sepulchres are sound—sounder far than the most recently finished 'desirable residence for a nobleman or gentleman' in S W

"Have we lost the knack, and are we disinherited of the craft of our sires?"

HOW TO HAVE A LOVING WIFE.—A correspondent sends the following to the Phrenological Journal:

If you would have a loving wife, be as gentle after as before marriage; treat her quite as tenderly when a matron as when a miss; don't make her the maid of all work and ask her why she looks less tidy and neat than when you "first knew her," don't buy cheap, tough beef, and scold because it does not come on the table porterhouse, don't grumble about squalling babies if you cannot keep up a nursery, and remember that "baby may take after papa" in his disposition. don't smoke and chew tobacco and thus shatter your nerves, spoil your temper and make your breath a nuisance, and then complain that your wife declines to kiss you: go home joyous and cheerful to your supper, and tell your wife the good news you have heard, and not silently put on your hat and go out to the club or lodge, and let her afterwards learn that you spent the evening at the opera or at a fancy ball with Mrs. Dash Love your wife, be patient; remember you are not perfect, but try to be; let whiskey, tobacco and vulgar company alone; spend your evenings with your wife, live a decent, Christian life, and your wife will be loving and true—if you did not marry a heartless beauty without sense or worth; if you did, who is to blame if you suffer the consequences?

THE AMERICAN DISHWASHER.—A machine for washing dishes has been invented and tried at Syracuse with satisfactory results. It is thus described:

It is in shape like a washtub with legs, and provided with a cover to which is attached the machinery for working it. Around the inside a wire frame is constructed, between which and the sides of the machine dishes are placed overlapping each other. After filling the space provided with dishes, a quantity of boiling water is poured in the center of the machine, which is provided with a screw-shaped paddle, operated by a long cog-wheel, which is adjusted on closing the cover By turning the crank a few seconds, the boiling water is forced between and about the dishes with sufficient force to remove all grease, etc., which may be upon them. The machine is arranged so that the water can be drawn off beneath, fresh boiling water introduced, and a few turns of the crank thoroughly rinses the dishes, and it only remains to take them out and stand them on their edges to drain. No wiping is necessary, the dishes having attained a temperature sufficiently hot to dry them perfectly.

FEMALE SUFFRAGE.—During the debate on the Reform bill, in the House of Commons, May 20, Mr. Mill moved an amendment extending the right of suffrage to women. He argued in favor that it was indispensible to carrying out the principle of no taxation without representation Women had voted in olden times for some counties and boroughs, and all the arguments against such extension were unpractical and had their origin in strangeness. To the plea that politics are not a woman's business, he replied that they were the business of but very few men, and no man was bold to discharge his business the worse for electioneering or taking an interest in politics, and argued that the unfair discrimination against women in their opportunities for education, for entering into business pursuits, and receiving wages for her work were the direct results of her disfranchisement.

A RECEIPT WORTH ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS.—The Ohio Cultivator says: Take one pound of sal soda and a half pound of unslacked lime, put them in a gallon of water and boil twenty minutes, let it stand till cool, then drain off, and put in a strong or jar, soak your clothes over night, or until they are wet through, then wring them out and rub on plenty of soap, and in one boiler of clothes well covered with water, add one teaspoonful of washing fluid, boil half an hour briskly, then wash them thoroughly through one suds, rinse, and your clothes will look better than the old way of washing twice before boiling. This is an invaluable receipt, and I want every poor, tired woman to try it. I think a patent washtub to do the little rubbing the washerwomen might take the old Bible and compose herself on a lounge and let the washing do itself.

"Nothing succeeds but success"—is a maxim which finds fresh illustration every day Canada affords a new proof of its truth in its treatment of Davis During the rebellion, while the struggle was undecided and there seemed (to outsiders) a fair chance of success, all the enthusiasm of the Provinces was expended on the rebel leaders, Even Tucker, Sanders and Company passed for very respectable heroes, and if Davis had at that time happened to find himself among them, it would be difficult to describe the reception he would have had But he goes there now as a baffled and defeated leader,—and is received with utter neglect and sullen silence He travels from one end of the "Dominion" to the other with scarcely a recognition from any quarter The contrast is instructive.

A correspondent of the New York Herald writing from Winchester, Virginia, says that in spite of the war, and the almost total destruction of the fences houses, etc, the farmers of the Shenandoah Valley, will probably have the finest and largest wheat crop ever raised in that region. The lower counties are filling up with Pennsylvania Germans, who are quietly buying all the farms they can get

A PROFITABLE FISHER.—An Alexandria paper states that "John Gibson, a colored man, of Washington, D. C, who fished four of the large shores on the Potomac this season, has cleared, above the expenses of his operations, upward of $20,000.

Inhabitants of the Human Body

What think you, reader, of your body being a planet inhabited by living races, as we inhabit the earth? Whatever may be your thoughts on the subject, it is even so Your body is but a home for parasites, that crawl over the surface, burrow beneath the skin, nestle in its entrails, and riot and propagate their kind in every corner of its frame. The sensation in regard to trichina in swine flesh has set the scientific to "knowing" their heads together, and the result is the following facts Parasites inhabit not only the bodies of all animals used by us as food, but they are also found in abundance in our own organization The species trichina spiralis, of which so much has been said, and whose existence has been discovered in pork, is according to our best anatomist, found in almost every muscle of the human body It lies along the fibres of the muscles, enveloped in little sacs about one-fourth of an inch in length It can be distinctly seen and examined only by the use of the microscope," Professor Wood says "No evidence has yet been produced of any morbid influence exerted by the trichina upon the system during life They have been found in subjects carried off by sudden death (accident) and in the midst of health" An English authority says It is a notorious fact that the numerous parasites do crawl over our surface, burrow beneath our skin, nestle in our entrails, and riot and propagate their species in every corner of our frame Nearly a score of animals belonging to the interior of the human body have been already discovered and described, and scarcely a tissue or an organ but is occasionally profaned by their inroads Each, alas, has its favorite or special domicile One species of annulomide chooses the heart for its dwelling-place, another inhabits the arteries, a third the kidneys Myriads of minute worms lie coiled up in the voluntary muscles, or in the areolar tissue that connects the fleshy fibres. The guinea worm and obeque bore through the skin and reside in the subjacent vertiecular membrane. Hydatids invest various parts of the body, but especially the liver and brain. A little fluke in appearance much like a flounder liver steeped in gall in the biliary vessels If you squeeze from the skin of your nose, what is vulgarly called a maggot—the contents, namely, of one of the hair follicles—it is ten to one that you will find in that small spacious cylinder several animalcule, exhibiting under the microscope a curious and complicated structure. We might, with as much propriety, refuse to drink water, which, however pure, is fairly alive with animalcule, as to refuse to eat meat because it exhibits (under the microscope) entozoa"

RICHES THRUST UPON HIM.—Some men are born rich, others make themselves rich, while a third happy class have riches thrust upon them. Such is the story told of a farmer one Mr. Sayre, of Lexington, Ky., who made a great hit in spite of himself It is as follows.

Mr Sayre kept a little. Some years since an overseer of one of his farms told him he needed some hogs on his place. Said Mr. Sayre:

"Very well, go and buy four or five thows and pigth right away, and put them on the farm."

The man accustomed to obey, and that without questioning, asked:

"Shall I take the money with me to purchase with?"

"No, thir! They all know me. Theod them here—I'll pay for them, or give you the money to pay when you get them."

The overseer went his way, and in two weeks returned, when the following conversation took place

"Well, Mr Sayre, I can't get that many pigs, I have ridden all over the country, all about, and can get but between eight and nine hundred."

"Eight or nine hundred what?"

"Eight or nine hundred pigs."

"Eight or nine hundred pigth! Who told you to buy that many pigth? Are you a fool?"

"You told me to buy them two weeks since. I have tried to do it"

"Eight or nine hundred pigth! My God! I never told you any thutch thing. I"

"But you did; you told me to go and buy four or five thousand pigs"

"I didn't do any such a thing! My God! I told you to go and buy four or five thows and little pigs, and you have done it, I thould say."

Mr. Sayre had pork to sell next fall. Pork rose, and Mr. Sayre made his pile.

TRAVEL IN AFRICA.—Nothing seems to us so incommensurable with the trouble, fatigue and danger of African travel as the small success which usually rewards the explorer of this unpenetrable continent. In other countries it has been said you ought to travel alone on foot, or en grand seigneur, if you wish to understand the people or their customs. In Africa either method is impossible to any purpose. In its savage equatorial districts no European can travel alone; his necessary baggage calls for a small company of followers. He must trade and he must defend his goods. He cannot avoid arousing the cupidity of every tribe with which he comes in contact, and yet he must depend upon their good-will for his chance of seeing any other. Infinitely more strange to them than they can be to him, he is at once associated with any misfortune which has happened to them either shortly before his arrival, during his stay with them, or following close up on his departure. He becomes the object of constant intrigues, and of unceasing if simple efforts at extortion. How can it be otherwise? He carries about with him what, in the eyes of the savages by whom he is surrounded, is wealth greater than that in Aladdin's cave. Only by the rarest good fortune can he hope to escape from some contingency which will rob him not only of all he possesses, but also of most of the tangible results of his labors, if not of his life.

THE RED PLANET.—Not a few astronomers have taken advantage of the recent opposition of Mars for study of some of the interesting phenomena of that planet. The ruddy color has been ascribed to a peculiar absorption of the atmosphere; but Mr. Huggins, after a careful examination with his spectroscope, is of opinion that the color is produced by the material of which a certain parts of the surface of Mars is composed. He finds, too, that Mars and the Moon have much in common as regards surface, and that the former absorbs a large proportion of the light which falls upon it.—Athenæum.

DEATH OF AN OLD SOLDIER.—The French papers announce the death of the old soldier, Jean Calueba, who, as a young conscript, stopped Napoleon one night with the traditional "on ne passe pas" There is not a village in France in which the late Jean Calueba is not pictorially represented holding his bayouet to the abdomen of the "Petit Corporal," who seems astonished at this misplaced zeal Jean died at the age of 88, in 1814 he received the Cross of the Legion of Honor, and a few years ago, having visited Fontainebleau, he was accorded a pension by the Emperor.
